

Seminar New systems for scientific evaluation, peer-review and open access

22 October 2014

Main Meeting Room, Royal Botanical Garden, Spanish National Research Council (CSIC)

Cuesta de Moyano (intersection with Alfonso XII street), 28014 Madrid

Time	PROGRAMME
9:30-10:00	Arrival
10:00-10:10	Opening Agnès Ponsati, Director, Unit of Information Resources for Research URICI (CSIC)
10:10-11:30	Session 1: The Rise of Science 2.0 and New Ways to Evaluate Research
10:10-10:30	The European Commission approach to science in transition Daniel Spichtinger, Open Access Policy Officer, DG Research & Innovation European Commission
10:30-10:50	Open Access: a publisher's perspective Daniel Wilkinson, BioMed Central Sales Executive (Australia, New Zealand, Middle East, Southern Europe)
10:50-11:10	Open Scholar and new proposals for scientific collaboration Pandelis Perakakis, Open Scholar Director
11:10-11:30	Q&A
11:30-12:00	Coffee break
12:00-13:45	Session 2: Open Access Generation and Scientific Impact
12:00-12:15	Liquid publications: A sustainable model for scientific dissemination and evaluation Carles Sierra, Researcher and Vice-director, Artificial Intelligence Research Institute IIIA (CSIC)
12:15-12:30	The European landscape of new models for scientific assessment: findings of the ACUMEN project Isidro Aguillo, Director of Cybermetrics laboratory, Institute of Public Goods and Policies CCHS-IPP (CSIC)
12:30-12:45	Researchers career and Open Access Fernando Lahoz, Researcher and Director, Institute of Chemical Synthesis and Homogeneous Catalysis ISQCH (CSIC)
12:45-13:00	What role should institutional repositories play? Isabel Bernal, DIGITAL.CSIC
13:00-13:45	Roundtable and floor debate